To Whom it May Concern,

In light of the recent events concerning Enron, can the DOJ move beyond this ridiculous anti-trust suit against Microsoft? Enough is enough. It seems Americans are penalized no matter what they do in an effort to save money for their futures. Not only do we have to struggle to make ends meet with exorbitant medical costs for health coverage, but we also must be penalized by watching our investments deteriorate because the government has decided to spend years trying to prove something - what exactly, no one is sure, not even the DOJ. One judge thinks Microsoft and Bill Gates are the Hitlers of the business world; the other judge tells the two sides the thing can be resolved out of court.

Meanwhile, dishonesty committed by a behemoth energy company on a scale seldom seen in recent times, has gone on, unnoticed by the DOJ, because? ? ? ? ?
Why ? ? ? ? ?

Please, end this fruitless pursuit and let Americans enjoy their computers, their investments, and regain a sense of confidence in "just for all."
